Chief Executive

Fiona is a qualified Occupational Therapist with many years experience in both physical and mental health. She set up and ran her own medical equipment company back in the 1980s. In 1997 when working as an OT at Stratfield House, she set up the Penny Farthing Reminiscence centre in Wellington and consequently founded the charity Reminiscence Learning in 2003. She feels very honoured and proud to be the Chief Executive of this forward thinking dementia charity and runs a team of dedicated staff and volunteers who always go the extra mile. Angela Rippon CBE is the charities patron.

Author

Fi loves writing stories and created the multi award winning intergenerational dementia awareness Archie project with over 45 schools and care homes to its name. She continues to write all the training courses for the charity with staff intervention and her latest book, Archie's Adventures, is at the printers and awaiting the first proof.

Fiona loves running the charity and leads from the front. Always happy to dress up, sing or dance. Her ideas are sometimes a little crazy but there is always plenty of them to choose from.
